

In my opinion these are destroyed aircraft, we can say that because we cannot see a stable structure (lines) in the imagery, it is clearly visible that the shapes are irregular, indicating debris that is scattered probably from the explosions.

Here on the other hand we can see intact aircraft, solid stable structure, high amplitude concentrated in specific areas, not scattered around the object.